Meeting Room Policy

The use of the Community Room at the North Haven Memorial Library is primarily for Library related activities. If the room is available, it may be used by groups or organizations devoted to educational, cultural, civic, or other activities of general community interest with priority given to North Haven groups. Internal meetings of local groups and businesses may use the facility. The room is not available for commercial, religious services, or partisan political purposes. The room may not be used for private parties. The room may not be used for purposes prohibited by Town, County, State, or Federal law. Meeting Room users must abide by the Library's Code of Conduct.

The Library Board of Directors subscribes to Article VI of the Library Bill of Rights, which states, "libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use."

Use of the Community Room does not in any way constitute an endorsement of the group's policies or beliefs by the Library or Town.

The Library is responsible for providing a safe, peaceful, and respectful environment to the community. The Library Director and Library Board of Directors reserve the right to reject a reservation request if the anticipated meeting is likely to be disruptive to regular library functions, too large for the Community Room capacity, disorderly, dangerous to persons or property, or in any other way inconsistent with any of the terms and conditions of this policy. The Library Director and the Library Board of Directors reserve the right to determine, in their reasonable discretion, whether any proposed use of the Community Room will require police protection. If it is determined that such police protection will be necessary, the group seeking to reserve the use of the Community Room shall be required, as a condition of such reservation, to pay for the cost of this police protection.

The Library reserves the right to seek references of any group before booking the room.
