IN MEMORY OF

Matt was someone who cared for and almost felt responsible for everyone's emotions. He was testing different lifestyles and attitudes. Fantasy and fantasy games were important to him. He liked role playing. ECA was his most constructive dedication. He was thankful for the opportunity to learn about the ECA program, and was also thankful that he was able to go. He also loved our school drama clubs. He was set apart from everyone else, but by no means an outcast. He was the most interesting person to see in the halls. He was the kid in the "tie-dyes." He was concerned by other people's feelings. It was great to walk with him in the halls and see him acknowledge others' stares at his unusual clothing habits.

"I have living memory of him in my hand—his broken pencil tip." JK

"The last time I saw him he gave me a necklace, and said,

"You deserve this'."

He had marvelous color sense—he was always making necklaces and bracelets out of embroidery thread, he kept finding new patterns and methods with which to make these "string things."

We all played with Matt's orange frisbee during our free periods. This frisbee never seemed to be far from him.

"We threw the frisbee between all of the buses on the last day of school, and caused quite a commotion."

Matt was happy to be out of school after our sophomore year, but was already missing ECA by the first few days away from it. He loved to build things, like the sedan chair he built for Latin class. He enjoyed painting colors onto different objects. I remember his "No Nukes" tee-shirt. He didn't talk much about peace, he felt that all the important things about peace had already been said, but he did feel that peace was an important goal. He drew peace signs all over.

"He showed me his Eastern religion books—the yin and the yang—and other things like that."

"I remember him reading his Taro cards."

He went to Yosemite with two new friends during his last summer. He stayed there, meeting people. He was always giving "helpful" advice. He walked everywhere. He loved being in the chorus in ninth grade—and was always out of tune. He was a tease. He had fun, a light touch. He had a neat sense of humor—and would find new terms for a word. He had fun, a strong grasp of humanity. He loved his music and the rhythm and dancing.

Matt knew how life worked.

"Everyday I have a reminder of Matt."

"The first day of summer will always remind me of him. The first day of his last summer we watched the sunrise together—even though we had to cut down a tree to make the view perfect. Matt wanted the perfect experience."

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1988, dedicate our yearbook to two very special people: Bette DeMayo and Elsa Feldman. It is because of these two energetic and dedicated women that our class has accomplished the most and has become the best it could possibly be.

We do not know how to thank you enough, Mrs. DeMayo and Mrs. Feldman. You have guided our class through the "biggies" such as proms, picnics, plays, and talent shows. But it is all the little things that have made you so special to us. It is the endless activities that perhaps not everyone noticed as much, such as the ever-present candy sales, the "ghostly" gifts, the mailbox number campaign, that we appreciate even more.

But most importantly, we value and remember the friendship you have shared with our class—the smiles and pats on the back and your words of encouragement to us when the "going got tough."

We will never forget the many hours and the dedication and love you have showered on our class. Each of you, like each and every one of us, is a part of the Class of 1988. And although we cannot give you a diploma and a graduation ceremony, we can give you all the memories captured in our yearbook.

CLASS HISTORY

What could you possibly say about our class? That we were determined to succeed, had the most school spirit, or that we accomplished the most? All of these hold to be true about the graduating class of nineteen hundred and eighty-eight. The deciding factor that made our class succeed, exhibit school spirit, and achieve all that we did was the unity among us all.

The beginning of our Sophomore year marked many new changes for us: a new school, new faces, new attitudes, and new educators. We were no longer "little Freshmen at the bottom of the ladder"—we were high school students on the road to success (although we didn't quite know it). Bigger and better responsibilities faced us as we began to mature into young men and women. In our Sophomore year we hosted a Talent Show—a successful one at that—on May 4, 1986. We established our first Advisory Board to help aid our class officers in leading us. We were given decisions to make: What would our class ring be? Where would our Junior and Senior Proms be? What DJ's and/or bands would we have? Through careful guidance by our class advisors, Mrs. Bette DeMayo and Mrs. June Pinto, we made our final decisions.

Our Junior year was a much anticipated one. Once again a new school and another new class advisor welcomed us back. Mrs. Elsa Feldman proudly took us on as Mrs. Pinto had to leave. It may not have been the prettiest school, but it was still "Home of the Indians." Thanksgiving came before we knew it and our first float was finally assembled and ready to roll. Much to the dismay of the senior class of nineteen eighty-seven, we won first prize. We also pulled together (literally), to beat the Seniors (although they still won't admit it), in the tug-of-war competition at our Pep Rally. Easter came and went and before we knew it we had sold $3000 worth of chocolate bunnies; our profits were to help finance our prom. And what a Prom it was! On May 2, 1987, the Junior class invaded September's for one of the best proms ever. The long awaited night was over in a mere four hours. We then drove off to our after prom at Bill Miller's in Branford. June soon arrived and as the final member of the Class of 1987 walked across the graduation platform, we proudly took on our new role as the Senior Class of NHHS.

Seniors?!? It just didn't seem possible!!! It seemed like only yesterday we were so happy to finally become Freshman, and here we were Seniors. It didn't seem that much stayed the same as we moved on to our final year. A new principal took over as we had said goodbye to Mr. Frank Riggs who had guided us for two terrific years. We said "Hello" to our new principal, Mr. Stuart Elliott, who would take us through our most important and meaningful year. We didn't have a new school, but to many of us that's how it felt. The walls and lockers were painted, our cafeteria took on a new look of maroon and white, and construction began on our new library. Perhaps the most important change to us was within ourselves. Many of us began to mature rapidly as we searched through catalogs and visited campuses to find the college just right for us, narrowed down the many career possibilities facing us, and prepared to face life's many challenges. We looked forward with eager anticipation to our Senior Prom scheduled for the Aqua-Turf Club in Southington and to our class play, GREASE; and, of course, our graduation night in June.

It is said that your high school years are the best times of your life. We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Eighty-eight, can only agree with this statement. We know for sure that our days spent at North Haven High School were indeed the best days of our lives.

PRINCIPALS

PRINCIPAL
Stuart A. Elliott

Dear Class of 1988:

You made it!

Graduation from high school means things - most of all it means you did not give up. There were times you could have given up, but you did not. Your determination has paid off.

Yes, you have reached a goal and much of it is because of you; but as you celebrate, remember your parents, relatives, teachers and friends who supported you (especially during the tough times).

I am proud to be your new principal. We have worked together to continue North Haven's tradition of giving you the best education possible.

My hope is that twenty years from now this yearbook will remind you not of reaching a goal, but of the process; not of "making it," but of the journey, a journey filled with fun and learning because you were part of something greater than yourself - THE CLASS OF 1988.

Sincerely,

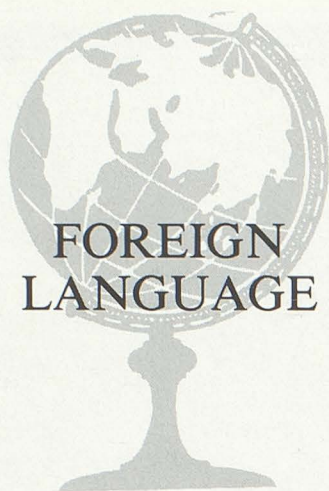

Stuart A. Elliott

BERMUDA IS YOUR

Class Will And Testament

We, the Class of 1988, residing at North Haven High School in the town of North Haven, Connecticut, being of sometimes sound mind and body, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

I, Krista Brunson, leave my black Converse All Stars to Justin, Matt, and Dave.
We, the seniors, leave the underclassmen the rules and regulations at the school to be revised to suit their rights and needs.
I, Alison Clark, leave Mr. Fiore, Sir, my retired Algebra II book, Trigonometry Book, numbers 12 through 25 squared that I should "know like the back of my hand" and many thanks for all his extra help that I couldn't have done without.
We, Scott McDonald and Linda Walker, leave the love of Jesus Christ to all his future followers.
I, Chris DiMartino, leave all my split ends to all the kids that look like porcupines.
I, Amy O'Brien, leave Mary Clarke a huge bottle of weed killer—in order to keep the garden healthy and happy.
We, Craig and Kevin, leave Mr. Besec all the spitballs we left in his office.
We, Kristen, Jill, and Sherry, leave our conquering of the challenge of Holly, Yael, and Amy, and challenge three more people to be better friends than we are.
We, Lynanne and MaryLou, leave to Mrs. Hively our completed, well-organized series of five star notebooks.
We, the seniors of 6th period free, leave the Class of '89 our massive amount of senior privileges.
We, Gail and Kim, leave all the good times and memories we've had throughout the years.
We, Tracy and Annemarie, leave Steve Proto all the Sunday's we were bumming.
I, Beth Ann Melillo, leave Anne Bonadies all the memories of good times we have shared and the thought we'll always be great friends, no matter where the future takes us.
We, Tracy, Karen, Annemarie, Tricia, and Kim, leave Andrea Giordano and her friends all the good times at the park on Friday nights.
I, Jennifer Guercia, leave Elsa Feldman and Alice Babuscio all the fun times and stupid jokes they put up with—thank you!
I, Amy Turner, leave L. Piscitelli a smile, M. Shea a football, D. Antonetti a lot of food, and all my friends good luck.
I, Maria, leave all of the great memories and time spent with Steve throughout high school.
I, Alison Clark, leave my locker #821 of two years to any patient person who can deal with trying to close it—good luck.
We, Jill and Kristen, leave Mrs. Hively a brand new Degler book that won't fall apart.
I, Margaret, leave my brother, George, the best of luck in high school and the hope that he will make the best of the next three years and enjoy himself.
I, Mark Modine, leave Mr. Sbabo all my demerits and tardies—over 100 of them.
I, Alexei Cohen, leave Mr. Fiore this question: Texas Tech?
We, the UCONN Spanish class, leave Mrs. Leach all of the memories from the past year—y nada mas.
I, Annmarie McGee, leave the Torlish family all the love in the world for everything they have done for me.
I, Scott Leighton, leave Mrs. Fitzmartin my thanks for letting me run all her errands and thanks for all the suggestions she gave me.
We, Mike P. and Tim Male, leave Jane Kircaldi wider doorways.
We, Dave Viggiano and Andrew Alberino, leave our memories of California (the beaches and the babes) behind us.
I, Yolanda, leave Wendy and Candida all the great and funny times that we've had through all the junior high and high school years—good luck in the future and thanks.
We, Diane, Margaret, Cathy, and Robyn, leave the media center the cutting board (wherever it is) and our version of SBN.
I, Suzanne, leave Denise a picture of John, Andrea a pillow and Cathi a thank you for all her advice.
I, Jennifer Gutowski, leave anyone who needs one a special sister just like Cynthia was to me.
I, Scott McDonald, leave thy sacred flashlight to those who are daring enough to explore the High School "Underground".
We, Amy T. and Denise M., leave the quote to all those who forgot our names and referred to us as "the girls with the red hair".
We, Mark Modine and Doug Evans, leave the school all our obnoxious entries each morning.
I, Alicia Jankowski, leave Wendy Jackson and Candida Morris all the great moments we had in our 11th grade English class.
We, Kevin, Brian, Jeremy, and Ed, leave Mr. Kenney all the spitballs that we plastered on his ceiling and walls back in 9th grade.
We, Tracy and Annemarie, leave Maria and April all our good times as watergirls.
I, Kevin Myjak, leave this school the memory of thrash metal—Cliff Burton lives!—the posers will die!
We, Cathi, Denise, and Suzanne, leave our 10th grade study hall talks to three girls who can top them!
We, the senior class officers (Alison, Amy, Kim, and Paul), leave Mrs. DeMayo and Mrs. Feldman a great many thanks for everything they have done for us—we are only sorry that we will never be able to repay them.
I, Valorie Abate, leave Mr. Fiore many thanks for making math enjoyable while learning.
We, Don and Leslie, leave Diane Selmont and Erich Reinholtz a penny for every argument they have—hopefully they'll spend their fortune wisely.
I, Louis Caplan, leave Mr. Garvey all the robots, radios, and other stuff I made in his electronics class that never worked.
We, Suzanne, Andrea, Cathi, and Denise, leave any four seniors our hotel rooms from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida during Spring Break.

I, Louis Caplan, leave Mr. Grove clear instructions on how to use his Casio FX-7000G Calculator.
I, Leslie, leave my sister, Tracy, to have the best senior year ever—I love you, Tracy.
I, Carla, leave Darrel, Darrel Jr. to take care of and love in my absence.
I, Steve Kopylec, leave the mirror in the boy's bathroom to any other guy who has hair as long as mine—or half as long as mine.
I, Lauren, leave Kevin a video tape of our own nightmare on October 31, 1987, complete with a dog whistle.
I, Kenneth Clark, leave a book of matches to give light to the mysteries of the underground and to future generations I leave the secret of the perpetual rise in Scott McDonald's hair.
I, Angela DeCusati, leave my cousin Danielle C. and her friends all their, let's say, wonderful clothes for concerts and lunch with their idol, Steve K.
I, Annmarie McGee, leave Lynanne Fermo and Andrea Volpe all the thanks in the world for helping me through the hard times of my life—thank you!
I, Maria Wishart, leave Tony Bracale and Rich Suraci all the money I gave them in lunch.
We, Deana and Carla, leave Dennis and Darrel two more girls who will put up with their garbage.
I, Don, leave Leslie Hartmann all of my love and wishes in her future years, and a phone to call me at college.
I, Maria Wischart, leave Maria Kattis all the good times we had together in West Haven and North Haven.
I, Michelle Mele, leave any couple who can top the relationship between me and Art with all the love, tears, and laughter—we made it!
We, Cabranes and Burke, leave Elsa Feldman a box of assorted Munchkins and a lot of laughs. Thanks!
I, Gina Williams, leave Ron Zachey all the luck in the world.
We, Leslie Hartmann and Cheryl Zelanakas, leave our buddy, Hien, an extra small soccer uniform, sweats, and a bench with hope that she will use all—except the bench.
We, Gina, Andrea, Kim, and Anna, leave all of our Powder Puff football practices on Wednesday nights to the people at Carvel and the lady at McDonald's.
I, Nichole Buonpane, leave Steve Silk and Kevin Connolley best wishes for a senior year as great as they made mine.
We, the Last Ones, leave all non-drinking underclassmen the strength to hold to their values and stay the way they are.
I, Erin Mongillo, leave my sister Jody all my good memories at North Haven High.
We, Marla, Deana, Tracie, and Michelle, leave Mr. Burrill all the wise cracks and laughs about the Wang Computer.
We, Valorie and Marianne, leave our lockers with all the great memories to the two next students who use them.
We, Gina, Kim, and Erin, leave the hot lunch line lady a hot dog.
I, Ed Theilgard, leave all my cigarette smoke to all the teachers who couldn't catch me.
I, Nichole Buonpane, leave Gretchen, Mary, Jane, and Lauren all my thanks for making these four years the best of my life.
I, Jane, leave Barbara a clean, dry, white T-shirt to keep in her car in case she ever gets thrown into a pool.
I, Michelle Mele, leave any group of friends who can top them the wild times between me and Art, Keri, Alison, Liz, Pezer, Danny, and the crew.
I, Theresa Babuscio, leave my sister Marie to any teacher who thought I was trouble in class.
I, Darlene, leave Mr. Fiore a can of Crisco to remember me by.
I, Cheryl Zelanakas, leave Mr. Fiore a tie rack full of ties with hopes that he will wear one someday.
I, Albone, leave Mark Pfister, Michelle Castalon, Nate Davis, and Ap Ap Gordo, my humble sense of humor and a word of advice—"if a teacher takes points off for neatness, get the heck out of there!"
I, Marla, leave Deana, Carla, Tracie, and Angela all the good times we shared with the guys at Carla's house.
We, Angela and Darlene, leave Greg this quote "ain't life sweet?"
We, Jane and Tami, leave to the die hard Whaler and Bruin fans all of the Clash of the Titan nights when they play each other.
I, Deana, leave Joe Esparo his stone-washed jeans in hopes that he'll wear them forever.
We, Maria and Erin, leave Mr. Ricker self-defense lessons.
We, Deana and Marla, leave Mrs. DeMayo all the boy problems she helped us solve.
We, Marianne and Dawn, leave all our stupid excuses to the 2nd period aides.
I, Ed Theilgard, leave nothing—but all my love to all the girls I left behind.
We, Andrea and Gina, leave the rolls of toilet paper to anyone that needed them on October 30, 1987.
I, Theresa Babuscio, leave my locker to anyone who can handle the trouble it gave my friends and me.
We, Kim, Erin, and Gina, leave Flybird and friends, running sneakers to run down the hall at top speed.
I, Mike Perkins, leave Shaun Rai my wardrobe, especially the "Smurf Outfit", so that he may make sarcastic comments about it for a long time to come.
I, Tracie Yentsch, leave Mr. Fiore my "stuck-up" attitude.
We, Andrew and Karen, leave all our memories that we shared during high school to any other couple who can match them.
We, Stefanie and Krista, leave Brian Brandt the Italiano language to thrive on.
We, the TQ, leave all our red vests to Mrs. Schonberger.

We, Paul Marcarelli and Krista Brunson, leave Mrs. Feldman many more trips "on the outside".
 We, Jen Guercia, Alicia Jankowski, John and Angela Muzio, leave Mr. Keough a $5 million dollar contract to be the next Max Headroom.
 I, Maria Wishart, leave Sue Bernardo all of the hot guys that we met.
 I, Mary Clarke, leave Erica Guandalini a special senior's varsity jacket!
 We, Maria Wishart and Maria Kattis, leave Sue Bernardo, Tony Bracale, and Rich Suraci all the good times we had at North Haven High School.
 We, Kim and Tracy, leave the summer of '87 as an unforgettable memory.
 I, Cherylann Grasso, leave Pete Gavin my messy, unorganized locker.
 We, the '88 Dawgs leave Jeanine all the money she let us borrow for lunch.
 We, the Seniors of the Grove, leave the neighborhood to the underclassmen to have an excellent time in and also to take very good care of.
 I, Mary Clarke, leave Amy O'Brien a flourishing vegetable garden, and a year's supply of green peas!
 We, Kim and Lori, leave Mrs. Iannone with a bottle of aspirin to ease all the tension we've caused her.
 We, Lynanne and Mary Lou, leave to Bernice Dellert our pencils and all our Epithelium diagrams that we tried so hard to draw—just the way she liked them.
 I, Leslie, leave Don all of the happy memories of the time we spent together and a bag of M & M's.
 I, Linda Walker, leave my long walks down Sackett Point Road to Angela Newman.
 I, Maria, leave all my love to a friend like Lynanne for all the times she was there for me.
 I, Alexei Cohen, leave Mrs. Gyorgyey my stock in Wrigley's Spearmint Gum.
 We, Maria and Kate, leave Mrs. Glassner all the minuses she gave us throughout the three years we had her.
 I, Annemarie, leave Ron Zachey all those times we didn't go horseback riding.
 I, Andrea Volpe, leave the teachers at North Haven High School with the relief that I am the last of the Volpes.
 I, Cheryl Zelanakas, leave Mrs. Bingham all my illnesses with hopes that I will be well again someday.
 I, Wendy A. Jackson, leave Yolanda, myself, and anyone else the right to stay out all night to have fun before college begins, with no questions asked in the morning.
 We, Janice and Karen, leave all our little arguments to anyone who can make up as fast as we do.
 I, Michele Adinolfi, leave my field hockey stick, Cranberry, to the next "tallest" field hockey player.
 We, Period 2, 3, and 6 auto shop, leave Hersche all the fond memories of the Blue Maverick, in addition to a spare set of keys to drive at his leisure.
 I, Steve Kopylec, leave North Haven High School to someday play at the Hartford Civic Center and the New Haven Coliseum with my band—"Attraction".
 I, Peter Gavin, leave Stevie Silk the best of luck next year when he becomes the starting keeper for the North Haven Varsity Soccer Team.
 I, Tracie Yentsch, leave Mrs. Iannone more markers to turn her fingers green.
 We, the anonymous, leave the Awesome Foursome a really great class discussion.
 I, "Jentiferus", leave Mr. Fiore my earlobes and a short hair cut.
 I, Gretchen Parker, leave the swim team all of my designer-ripped suits to wear during practice next year.
 We, Christy, Angela, and Tracie, leave Dawn and Brenda to finish their high school years in peace.
 I, Gretchen, leave Nikki Buonpane an extra tenth of a point to raise her average from an 89.4 to a 90.
 I, Scott Leighton, leave John Mulligan his locker that I used all year and all the good times we had in the past.
 I, Beth Ann Melillo, leave Miss Dolan my cheerleading uniform so that she can fulfill her secret, lifelong dream to be a cheerleader.
 We, Cindy Esposito and Christine DiMartino, leave our two parking spaces in the dirt to anyone else who wants to get towed away.
 I, Jill, leave my brother Ross all the fun I had at North Haven High.
 I, Kristen, leave Carrie, Nancy and Ross a big maroon car with no radio so that they can continue to have as much fun on the way to school as we've had this year.
 We, Andrea, Cathi, Denise, and Suzanne, leave all the good times we had throughout our high school years.
 I, Wendy, leave Lenny all the smiles and winks we passed in the hallways to remember—don't pass them on!

We, the Raisins, leave all the fights between us to anyone who can put up with the yelling!
 We, the Raisins, leave all the incoming seniors a curfew later than Marianne's.
 I, Wendy A. Jackson, leave Mrs. Blythe (Dee) all the baby diapers in the grocery store for the next 3 years and Reggie DuBois to deal with next year alone.
 I, Mike Perkins, leave my anatomy notebook to Saaj and Matt so that they will be able to copy all of the homework that they never did.
 We, Kristen Downs and Tim Male, leave Mrs. Dellert (a.k.a. Mom) the happy chair, Kristen's cheek cells, the rat paw and all the notes she never got to read.
 I, Angela DeCusati, leave Kate, Laura, Maria, Carla, and Deana all the good times we had before the big breakup.
 I, Annmarie McGee, leave Mike Cleary and Scott Champagne all the thanks for the good advice they have given me through the year.
 I, Cindy Esposito, leave my torcherous endurances to those of you who have yet to hit 10th and 11th grade, and get all the teachers and bull I had.
 We, the Cacahuates, leave all the good times we've had together to any Cacahuates (if there are any) who can top it.
 We, the seniors of 6th period free, leave Mr. Schatzlein buffing compound and a buffer for his own personal use.
 We, Sue, Jennifer, and Lori, leave to any three people the chance to share more terrific memories that we have made together.
 I, Sue Raccio, leave my sister Michelle best wishes for a terrific four years at NHHS.
 I, Don Johnson, leave Marc Bush my seat on the soccer bench.
 We, Valorie, Sue, and Jennifer, leave Mr. Bonito many "thank yous" for all of his patience!
 I, John Muzio, leave Mr. Sbabo my black hat and my appearance of not being a student.
 I, Amy O'Brien, leaves Mrs. Leach una mapa de Bogota, a copy of Ferdinand the Bull, some rapa normal, and a life's supply of fattening food.
 I, Shaun Rai, leave Mike Perkins a new wardrobe in hopes of refining his tastes.
 We, Tracy, Janice, Jennifer, and Tricia leave our Oreo cookie formation to anyone who could make a better one.
 I, Shaun Rai, leave Tim Male a huge thank you for somehow carrying me through my classes our Junior and Senior year.
 We, Mike Perkins and Tim Male, leave Erica and Alexis all the torment that we gave them at our lockers in hopes that they will find someone else to take over when we're gone.
 We, Scott Pearsall, Gretchen Parker, Nikki Buonpane, Jane Kircaldie, and Tim Male, leave Mr. Grove applications to Yale, Harvard and Princeton to pass out to all his students.
 We, Janice, Tracy, Karen, Tricia, Annemarie, and Kim leave all our good times and memories to any group of friends who can top them.
 I, Kate Maynard, leave Maria Czako all the good times and not so good times we've had through the years as best friends.
 I, Scott Pearsall, leave Mike Perkins a lifetime supply of combs, to make up for the one I defiled in sixth-grade.
 I, Valorie Abate, leave Mrs. Leach many thanks for her Spanish help.
 We, "The Subway Crew", leave this school and Mr. Sbabo all our yelling, screaming, obnoxious, crazy behavior, and Wednesday mornings.
 We, Mrs. Hively's American Studies Class (86-87), leave her an infinite supply of knobs, so she may never be without them again.
 I, Maria Wishart, leave Troy Walker the times he bugged me for his chocolate bunny.
 I, Lauren, leave Jane a dog slobber remover kit so she can clean her prom gown where Buffy slobbered on it.
 I, Maria Wishart, leave Sue Bernardo behind to graduate in the Class of '89.
 We, Al and Pete, leave Mrs. Blythe love, luck, patience and a lifetime supply of baby food—just in case!
 We, Craig and Kevin, leave the retreads a big wet one.

We, The Class of 1988, leave our sincere thanks and appreciation to everyone who has made our past four years at North Haven High School a happy and memorable time; and to all future classes of North Haven High School, we leave our sincere best wishes for a successful and unforgettable high school experience.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hand and seal at North Haven High School, to this, our Class Will and Testament, this First Day of June, in the Year One Thousand Nine Hundred Eighty-eight.

THE TIMES WE SHARED

The years have gone by with the changing of the seasons together we've laughed and cried
friendship beyond all reasons

Thrown together in math class
all those years ago learning about length and mass our separate ways we will go

The times we shared will stay with me until the end
I couldn't have been paired with a better friend

I DREAM

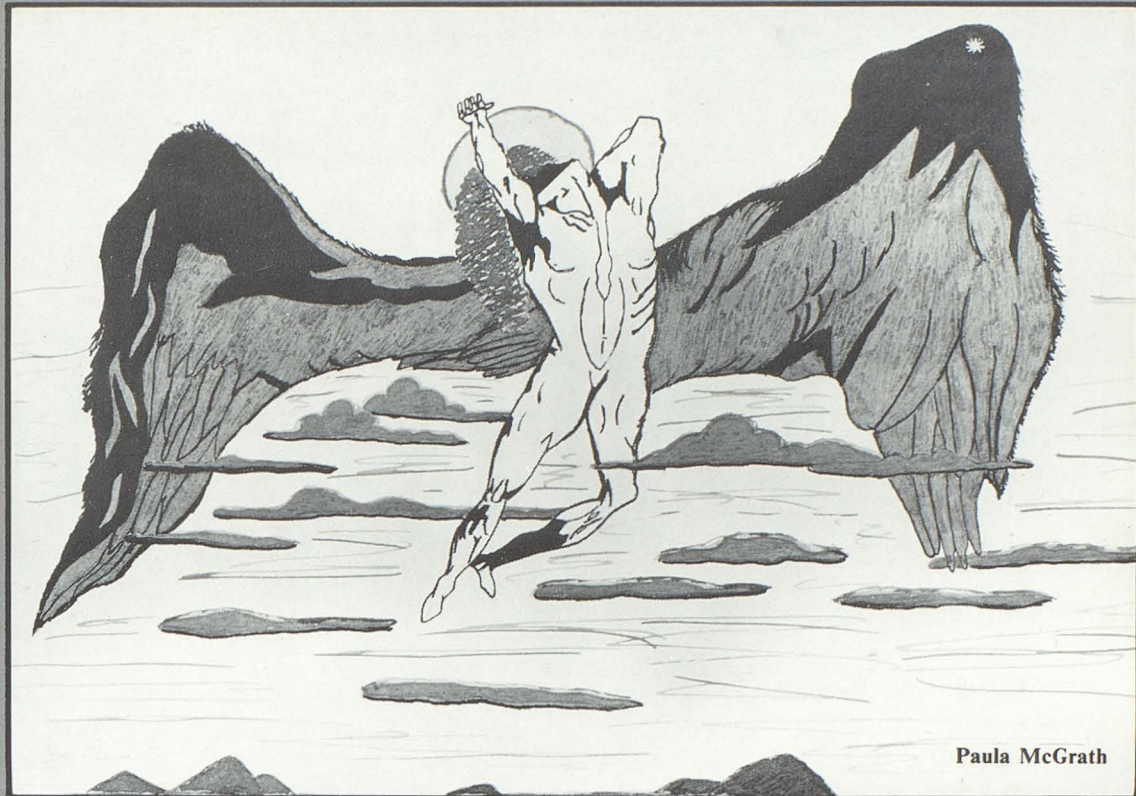

I dream of things
I know aren't true
I build on fantasy
Until there's nothing left to do

I hope for dreams
That I have in my heart
Dreams are things
That give reality a start

I think about my hopes
And feel they are too high
But then I close my eyes
And my imagination starts to fly

I explore deep into my thoughts
Until there's nothing more
Then I look to see what Lies behind the locked door

My dreams, hopes and thoughts
Are all a part of me
There's always more to anyone
Than what the eye can see

At one time I had a full and shiny mirror—a mirror that only I looked into and had at all times. It was a mirror I looked into quite often. This mirror was not one which reflected what it saw, but rather a mirror I looked deep into. This mirror looked into my world, a fantasy world of my own. All the things I wanted, all the dreams I dreamed and the way I thought the world should be were there. I often lived in this world in the mirror, to think this mirror was my boundary from my world to the world of reality, the two worlds has never directly collided, but rather met in the passing.

One day, while looking in the mirror something startled me. The world that I created and was looking at was changing. The feeling subsided because I realized that even though the world was different, it was still mine and what I wanted, but what I had wanted had changed. I still knew that my world and reality had yet to meet.

One day in my life, I noticed something had changed. I went to look in the mirror and found it cracked with little remaining pieces. I realized that my world and reality had met. Surprisingly, the change had not affected me that much. For when I realized that combination of fantasy and reality, I still knew that bits of the mirror were mine to hold onto. I could still dream and wish for things, but I also realized that the world of reality is not always portrayed the way the mirror showed my world. I found that reality has some of the things I want, but it also has things I am surprised with and uncomfortable with.

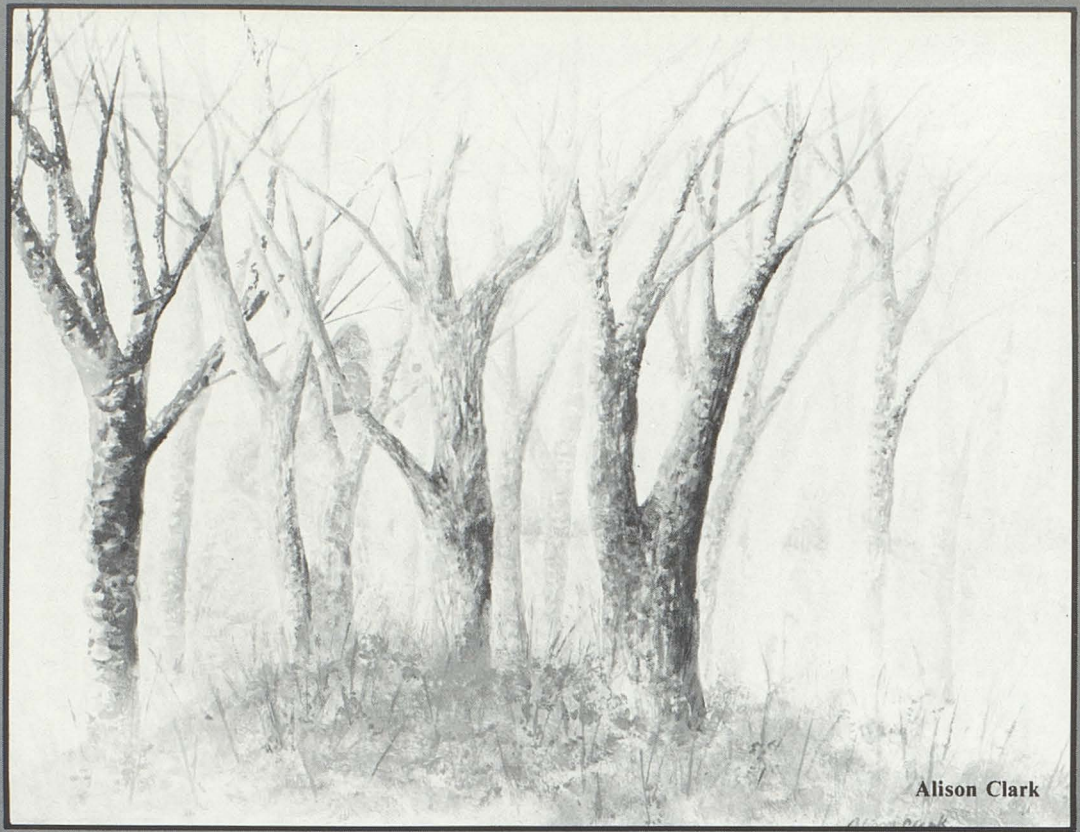

I have come out of the mirror and have seen things I like and don't like in the world of reality. I live in this world now and not the world of the full mirror. Yet, when times come when I need to dream, I pull out a piece of the once full, but now broken, mirror.

FRIENDS

You helped me take my mind off things.
 You helped me love again.
 When other things brought me down
 On you I could depend.
 You make me want to live my life
 To see my problems through.
 When tough times get too rocky
 I can always depend on you.
 You're always standing near me
 You never let me down.
 You always have a smile
 To cover up my frown.
 Thank you friend for being there.
 When I needed a gentle touch.
 I love you friend so dearly
 You'll never know how much.

When nature's mother was wedded and widowed, her veil hung twice.

One for sanctuary, with which she blew out the light.

Her lovers gift of gem has fallen from her hand.

Fragmented glass lay splattered and sprawled, but one piece remains larger than all

To show that their undying love still reigns above all.

Lynanne Fermo

Under the creator, above the destroyer, lay field of motions.

Where tintinabulation takes the anxiety away, harmoniously tickling the troubles that lay.

Synchronized sounds hypnotize the fear, that is when there will be no more tears.

Spurious energies are cast within,
to all who listen and all who believe in them.

Headstrong is too strong, the stars belonging to them, screech red and scrape the mirrored sky.

But never will mine.

A reborn presence is on the way, if you let the rhythm take you away.

So, I lean my back against the castle wall, feeling the power that was once before.

Lynanne Fermo

VERY SPECIAL THANKS

To Our Advisor Mrs. Iannone

Jane R. Iannone - "Scooter", (Mr. Iannone said it not us), neurotic, demanding, sometimes patient, dependable, all around nice person, LIKES: only editors who work laboriously at all times and meet deadlines, Mr. Iannone, when the yearbook is done; DISLIKES: lazy editors, cramming all deadlines at the last minute (who us??), whining students; PET PEEVE: When students ask "When is our yearbook coming in??" in the middle of February, ACTIVITIES: yearbook, yearbook, yearbook, yearbook, yearbook, MEMORABLE MOMENT: When Mike left for Acapulco with the last fourteen pages of the book; SUPPRESSED DESIRE: To have an increase in salary.

Mrs. Iannone, what can we possibly say to you? We tried to keep this page a secret from you but doing so was difficult because of your involvement with the book. When we began to work on the book in May of our Junior year, no one knew how much work would be involved. After we learned, and we learned quickly, we only wondered why you were still doing this after so many years. All we can say is that we are glad you still are. Without you, Mrs. Iannone, this book would be only an idea, and not a reality. Thank you for staying with us despite all the quarrels, nearly missed deadlines, and pet peeves we have developed about each other's work habits (none of yours). Again, thank you and we couldn't have done it without you.

We've Seen The Writing On The Wall

Your Friends Have Predicted What You'll Be Doing In 20 Years . . .

Marianne Acampora will then have an extended curfew of 11:00 p.m.

The "M & M's" nine months after marriage will look like peanut M & M's.

Mary Clarke will have joined forces with Jane Kircaldie and finally used their M-80's.

David Gagliardi will be a tall, sexy hero. Kenny Glenn will still be trying to find the lights!

Michelle DeSimone will lose all of her hair because of her excessive use of Aquanet hairspray.

Tracey Cosenza will experience the trauma of obesity because of her constant eating.
